

Terrible German Atrocities Are Now Substantiated by the Report of the Commission of Enquiry

States That Teuton Soldiers Burned Farms, Houses and Mills and Shot Inoffensive Citizens in Aerschot Region—In Dieste District 23-year-old Man Tied to Tree and Burned Alive—22-year-old Woman Outraged by 'Brave' Soldiers—Old Man Hanged—Revolting Tale of Barbarism.

That atrocities almost unparalleled in the grim history of warfare have been perpetrated by German soldiers on defenceless, non-combatant Belgians can hardly be disputed, although some of the accounts published were of such a shocking nature that civilized people were to be excused for regarding them as incredible in the west.

The report of the commission of enquiry has been published, and forms a terrible indictment against the fighting representatives of what has for long been regarded as a highly civilized nation. Copies have been received by Belgian consuls in the west.

The commission was appointed to enquire into the alleged violation of the laws of nations and of the rules and customs governing warfare; it has conducted its investigations carefully and impartially; and its report contains only statements that are said to have been substantiated, appalling though they are.

The report is a bulky document in four parts, all of which give exposure of atrocities committed in different provinces of Belgium.

With reference to the regions of Aerschot, here are some extracts:

Forty are Massacred.
"A large part of the population fled, panic-stricken, during the first passage through the district, the German troops burned farms, houses and mills, and shot down inoffensive citizens, who lay met on the roads or who were working in the fields."

"At Herseel 12 houses in the village were burned; the miller and his son, who fled, and 21 others, were killed, although no Belgian force was in sight."

"At Aerschot, when the Belgian troops were not in the town, the Germans burned many houses, and in Martens street, shot five or six inhabitants whom they had forced to leave their houses. In the evening under the pretext that a German officer of high rank had been killed on the main square by the burgomaster's son, or, according to another account, that a plot against the commanding officer had been formed by the burgomaster and his family, the Germans made all the men in Aerschot prisoners. Fifty of them were marched some distance from the village and were formed in groups of four. Each group in turn was forced to run past the Germans, the men being shot down and bayoneted. More than 100 were massacred in this way."

Man Burned Alive.
Evidence was also given to show that among many atrocities committed in the Dieste district, "one Andries Willem, 23 years old, pacifist, was tied to a tree and burned alive. Dealing with occurrences in the town of Louvain and surrounding districts, the report gives the most elementary principles of humanity."

Systematic Violence.
From the mass of evidence adduced the commission draws conclusions to the following effect:

"In this war occupation of territory is systematically followed and sometimes preceded and accompanied by acts of violence against the civil population, which are equally contrary to the recognized rules of war and to the most elementary principles of humanity."

"The German method of procedure is everywhere the same. They advanced along the roads, shooting inoffensive passers-by, especially cyclists, and even the peasants working in the neighboring fields. In the settlements where they halt, they commence by requisitioning food and houses, which they then drink until intoxicated. Sometimes they shoot at random from the interior of empty houses and declare it was the inhabitants that shot. Then commence scenes of incendiarism, of murder, and above all, of cruelty, which spare neither sex nor age. Even where they pretend to know those to blame for the acts which they allege to have been committed, they do not confine themselves to executing them summarily, but profit by the opportunity to decimate the population, pillage all the houses and then set fire to them.

"After a first massacre, carried out at random, they shut up the men in the church of the locality; they order the women to remain in their homes and to leave the doors of their dwellings open during the night. In several districts the male population has been confined off to Germany, forced, it would seem, to harvest the crops as in the ancient days of slavery."

Masses of White Flag.
"There have been numerous cases where the inhabitants have been forced to act as guides and to make carrying parties for the German troops. Many depredations are made in their marches, and even in their camps, the Germans place the civilians, both men and women, in the first rank to keep the soldiers from shooting. Other accounts from Belgians officers and soldiers declare that German detachments are not ashamed to take shelter under the white flag or the Red Cross. On the other hand, they fire on our field hospitals, and ill-treat our wounded, and even kill them. The members of the clergy seem to be the special object of their hatred."

"Finally, we have in our possession expanding bullets, abandoned by the enemy, and we possess medical certificates affirming that certain wounds must have been inflicted by bullets of this kind."

MUCH INTEREST FELT IN ENGLAND OVER THE CHANCELLOR'S SPEECH

London, Nov. 17.—Much interest is taken in a statement, which David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, will make in the house of commons today on financing the war. The general belief is that in the course of the speech the chancellor will propose new taxation to meet the needs of the war, and that the new taxes will be of a substantial nature. It is supposed this will take the form of a substantial increase in the duties on beer and tea and possibly on sugar and that the question of the raising the income tax will be reserved for the budget statement next March. The secret, however, has been attached to the war, and it is known definitely until the chancellor makes his statement.

Was Troubled With Choking Spells and Shortness of Breath.

When the chest becomes affected, there comes a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, wheezing, rattling, and a feeling of constriction, along with a feeling of weakness and anxiety.

Many men and women drag along with a weary step, and become weak and haggard, when otherwise they could be strong and healthy. They would only pay some attention to the first warning signs of trouble. On the first sign of the heart becoming weak, the nerves unstrung, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be given a fair trial and you will find they will soon correct both these organs.

Dr. James Leard, Tregon, P.R.I., writes: "Just as I have told you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I had choking spells, and was troubled with shortness of breath, and I was very weak and nervous. I was not able to do my work for two years; now I can do quite well."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 20 cents per box, 2 boxes $1.00. For all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WANTED—AN AUTO NEXT TO QUICKLY AND "WE" CAN GET IT

Why the Average Man: Who Dodges Cars as Jasper, for Instance, Doesn't Buy.

Following is a reprint of an article which recently appeared in the Chicago News under the caption of "The Auto Dodger."

To the mere foot-man, whose only knowledge of automobiles is deduced from the fact that he has seen some fellow man walk into the place where they are sold.

"I don't want to be as friendly as the grave. A shiny car or two is seen through a shiny plate glass window and a mere man (known to have been bitten by the devil) walks up-and-down and up-and-down—as afraid to go in" as when he called on his lady-love after her long absence.

But once inside while "we" really do go in.

And we wonder, once inside, how the modish millionaire who comes slowly toward us ever manages to see us—us who are so starved and inconspicuous.

"When the millionaire swears he is only an automaton, he is only a man who only to lose it again at his first display."

"I don't want to be a discourteous—more like an ultimatum."

"Of course, there are other cars besides the Hotchkiss, but you must see when you consider the Hotchkiss' exclusive features—our well-strengthened body; the long-stroke motor; the only early car-bumper; the dippy differential why, there's nothing else to it but the Hotchkiss, my friend, nothing to it."

If he could only have unbent enough to have first found out that "we" had never owned a car, he would have said "stream-line body" sounded like correct talk; that we didn't know whether the car-bumper buried the car or blew the horn; that we secretly thought the differential was a lap-rope—why, maybe he would have been kinder to us."

"Now, this is all a hideous lie! on this average automobile salesman, who is really a wonderfully capable ex-soldier of the "points" in the car he is selling."

Only his first instinct which he would not let us see so much for granted.

We have been pestered "most to death" for weeks by a car by a "managing" wife and her scheming allies (Elizabeth, 10; Helen, 21).

We haven't admitted surrender, but to give them a car, we have been around trying to get sufficiently more-wise to keep from getting "stung" in the first place, at least at intelligently as our wife bought her sewing machine.

We wait for knowledge. We burn for facts. And we are "given a stone."

We don't know what an "X Type Cylinder" is—shame on us—"Four power impulses" is all Greek.

"Multiplication is vexation" and so are "strut rods," "torque bars," "thermo-siphon cooling" and a "five-bearing crankshaft."

So we look wise while these technical terms are being used—but we don't know.

Some day an automobile advertisement—or a series of them—will be written for the man who's dogging cars on Michigan boulevard.

They will tell us in words we can understand how the old time car was made, and how, and why, so that on our next call on the man behind the plate glass window we shall be able to talk back to him in his own language.

NEGLECTED COLD WILL VERY OFTEN TURN TO CONSUMPTION.

Never neglect what at first seems to be only a slight cold. Perhaps you start to cough, a little irritation in the throat, then it gets lower down, settles on the lungs and bronchitis sets in, and you start to raise phlegm of a greenish, yellowish color, and you cough persistently.

If you let the simple cold run it will surely develop into something very serious, and perhaps consumption.

On the first sign of a cold or cough go to your dealer and procure a bottle of

She had no rest day or night, and I tried everything I could think of, but without doing her the least bit of good. At last I bought of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I got a bottle for her. She had not taken half of it before she got relief, and with the remainder she was completely cured. Now when any of the family have a cough we always know what to get for

On Saturday evening, November 14, Rev. Geo. G. Webster, minister of the Eastwood Methodist church, united in marriage James Sidney Smith, of the street railway department, and Miss Bessie Maud Buchanan of 469 Leggett street. The wedding was solemnized at the Eastwood parsonage, 617 1st street.

Exchange's Good Work.
If indications point for anything, the Women's Exchange will run along smoothly all winter, as the result of the venture on Saturday. One who has had a winter's work ahead of her will be able to do so as easily as possible among those women in your locality who are working for our exchange.

When the Canadian expeditionary force left Canada, Miss Arnoldi and her husband, Mr. J. H. Arnoldi, were the first to accompany them and continue the work we had begun at Vancouver, namely, the distribution of food commodities. This work has been approved by the British war office. It was realized that Canada, as it is here, that it was very necessary and important. The women of Canada are working so hard and so enthusiastically that we feel that they will appreciate to the full a direct channel for their supplies and also the personal touch which it gives. Very careful inquiries will be made and detailed lists obtained from each regiment as to their exact requirements.

ADDRESS ON THE WAR.
On Saturday afternoon people gathered in Pembina hall, the new university building—the third from the river bank—to hear Prof. Burt's scholarly talk on the European War. "The First European Conflict" was the subject chosen. Appearing first in the Napoleonic wars, the theme was developed until the Congress of Vienna. It was then that the famous assembly of diplomats took place in the middle of September, 1814—the final act was carried June 9.

Altogether the talk was arresting in the interest it compelled.

The speaker was heartily thanked.

A HOUSEHOLD MOTTO

No longer do we keep with admiration the woman who tells us that the things she had in her house came from more than half the civilized world in the world. It's all very far for the hunter to point to the heads on the walls of his den and tell you he shot them in nine provinces, or on three continents, in lands of almost eternal snow and lands of tropical heat, on mountains, moor and plain, or on whole sides of maps. It's very interesting to listen to the aged athlete tell you from how many sporting expeditions and under how many flags he gathered his great mugs and shields and illuminated addresses. But the man or woman who strikes a thrill into us nowadays is the man or woman who can take us over the house and demonstrate that from garret to cellar, from verandah to the steps at the back kitchen door, and even out into the garden, the things which make that house a home were made in Canada, the land of home, and under one flag, the Union Jack. There should be in every home a "Made-in-Canada" society whose business it is to increase the number of things in that home made in Canada. Some may call it patriotism. It isn't. It's only common sense and the best kind of selfishness.

LADIES' EMPIRE CLUB APPEALS TO ALBERTA PEOPLE

Letter From Miss Mary Plummer Points Out Needs of Boys at Front.

The following letter has been received by Mrs. Balby, wife of the lieutenant-governor of Alberta. The letter was sent from the Ladies' Empire club, 69 Grosvenor street, London, and is thus phony:

Dear Madam: We are addressing this appeal to you in the hope that they will interest your association in our work and also make known as widely as possible among those women in your locality who are working for our club. When the Canadian expeditionary force left Canada, Miss Arnoldi and her husband, Mr. J. H. Arnoldi, were the first to accompany them and continue the work we had begun at Vancouver, namely, the distribution of food commodities. This work has been approved by the British war office. It was realized that Canada, as it is here, that it was very necessary and important. The women of Canada are working so hard and so enthusiastically that we feel that they will appreciate to the full a direct channel for their supplies and also the personal touch which it gives. Very careful inquiries will be made and detailed lists obtained from each regiment as to their exact requirements.

The Canadian War Contingent association which has been formed here to further the interests of our force in every way, has among its objects the collection and distribution of food supplies. Hon. George Perley, M.P., is the president. It may be interesting to note that each colony has a war contingent association. The Canadian association has elected us to their executive and has appointed us their distributing agents. In this war over-hauling or wasted effort is prevented.

We shall need vast quantities of comforts and necessities for an emergency fund. The men already here will require things in large numbers. While regiments have no cholera belts and many others are only partly supplied with these and other war necessities.

The British papers are full of appeals for comforts for the British Tommy, and it behooves us Canadian women to look after our own men. When once they are at the front there is much replenishing to do, and it is interesting to note that our depot at the base, wherever that may be—Salisbury Plains, of course, for the depot has been moved to London, and we are in London for receiving and storing supplies, and they will be acknowledged from there forwarded to us as we require them. Free transport is promised and arrangements are being made for a receiving and forwarding depot at Montreal, as the November sailings are for that date. Notice as to this will appear shortly in the Canadian press.

To give you some idea of how necessary they consider comforts over there, the British papers have reported for 200,000 belts and 200,000 socks, and Field Marshal Sir John French has a special appeal for the immediate dispatch of these. The demand is so great that it is very hard to get these supplies here, and we feel also that Canadian industries should benefit by the supplies for Canadians. We hope, therefore, that you will all come to our aid and make this work the big and complete thing it should be.

We shall be pleased to give you further information desired. All packages should be addressed to Miss Arnoldi, "Field Comfort Fund," 4 Hyde Park Gate, London, S.W. The following is a list of the requirements:

- Money for emergency fund. We should have $50,000.00.
- Cholera belts—Asked for in thousands. Woven recommended.
- Socks—We have enough. The more handkerchiefs the better.
- These are the first and most important needs.
- In addition to the above we also require:
- Handkerchiefs colored, khaki preferred.
- Sleeping caps.
- Mittens.
- Wristlets.
- Flannel shirts.
- Underwear.

All outside articles of clothing should be kept or sent in closed boxes. If sending large quantities it is strongly recommended that they be put in boxes of 10 or 100 and packed in small packing cases. A complete list of contents with name and address of sender should be securely fastened inside the box.

We hope very much to have your support in this work, and shall anxiously await your answer as to how you can help us.

Yours sincerely,

(Sgd.) MARY PLUMMER.

KING ALBERT HARD AT WORK WHEN BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED SATURDAY

London, Nov. 17.—Here H. F. Fehelman of the staff of the Daily Express, writing from the Hague Saturday:

"King Albert's birthday was celebrated today through the Belgian colonies of refugees in Holland with touching unanimity. The king and queen received more than 15,000 messages of good will.

One of the most touching messages which reached them was from the children in England. King George, the king and President Poincare also sent warm messages of congratulations. The king, despite his festive day, worked with his staff as usual."

FAMOUS SPRINGS AT PASO ROBLES BEING IMPROVED

Nearly $100,000 Will Be Expended on California Resort Great Boulevard.

The Paso Robles hot springs, in California, famed far and wide because of the excellent curative water and mud found there, are having many improvements made, the total cost of which will amount to nearly $100,000.

A mammoth mud bath establishment, probably the most unique in the world, with a capacity of 500 mud baths a day, has just been completed. It is being erected over the springs and is constructed of brick, tile and steel. Large sun parlors supplied by natural heat occupy the upper part of the building. Immense porcelain receptacles have been built to receive the boiling water which continually emerges from the bowels of the earth. This water contains the most essential medicinal ingredients, including lithium, sulphur and soda, and is decidedly radioactive.

The water and mud at Paso Robles is said to be the most curative known and every year thousands of Canadians and Europeans journey to the springs to recuperate and seek diversion. This year a large majority of health seekers who formerly have gone to Europe will go to Paso Robles to regain health. People who have visited the

The agricultural tide is on the turn even now. The war is responsible for this great back to the land movement, and it's a safe prediction that Alberta will experience in the spring the greatest land rush the province has ever seen. Farmers are assured big prices for many years on cattle, grain and produce to supply an ever-increasing demand.

There never was a greater opportunity to buy Farm Lands at rock bottom prices than now. The company intend to secure all they can get if the price is right, and will assist the incoming tide of settlers to locate on their holdings, which will be all improved and close to railroad facilities, thereby assuring the settler a crop the first year and a market for all he can raise.

The Alberta Farm and Colonization Co., Ltd., will assist the settler not only by selling him an Improved Farm for a small cash payment and the balance in crop payments, but will start him off right with first grade cattle and a team of horses from the company's own Stock Farm.

CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY FOR COMPLETE SETTLEMENT.

That the migration to Canada following the termination of the war is going to be something in the nature of an en masse occupation of a comparatively vacant country is now universally admitted by all who are competent to read the signs of the times.

European conditions following the war cannot fail to be such as will lead thousands and hundreds of thousands to seek new homes. Herein is Canada's opportunity, if we have the statesmen who can grasp the nature of the opportunity presented.

Of these hundreds of thousands it must be expected that a great percentage, when they reach this dominion, will be without capital. With the destruction of wealth now going on it could not be otherwise. But the fact of them being without capital, while it will be inconvenient, should not be allowed to permanently disable them as producers. With a willingness and an ability to work, such as distinguishes the French and the Belgians, to say nothing of the British, the resources of Canada should be sufficient guarantee upon which the government would be justified in undertaking some colossal scheme of furnishing capital to settlers, so as to assist them to get on the land and to assist them to become producers when they do get on the land. Most pioneer countries have adopted this policy already, notably Australia, New Zealand and Argentina, with highly satisfactory results.

If Canada will adopt a loan policy toward settlers which will make it possible for potential producers to get onto the land and which will require as part of the contract that they keep the land in steady productivity, Canada can have every cultivable quarter section from the Red River to the Rocky mountains brought under the plow and the prairie west made the greatest producing country in the world.

SECURE IN THE ASSURANCE OF A GREATER PROSPERITY.

Riches and grandeur are a matter of comparison. The same may be said of comfort and prosperity.

Anent which, there is a great kernel of truth in what Morley Donaldson says when he advises Canadians who may have the blues over business prospects to consider what their case might be were they in the war zone in Europe.

In a great many respects Canada is one of the most fortunate countries in the world just at the present moment. There is a business disruption, it is true, but the most of our difficulties are those brought on this country by the people themselves. As Duncan Marshall remarked upon a recent occasion, we have attempted to ignore the gospel of work. There has been altogether too much discounting of the future through speculative flights in land values and town lots, a tremendous percentage of the people of this country attempting to get a living out of a rise in values which could only be sustained by a contemporary development. The backset from such a course was bound to come, war or no war, and the panacea is a reversion to work and production. Canada, and particularly western Canada, is fortunate in the respect that it has the natural resources which guarantee as a reward for intelligent labor the largest possible return in products of the soil, and it is the products of the soil that the world wants today.

So, with Morley Donaldson, we should assume the most hopeful air and get to work, in the assurance that the reward cannot be other than a genuine prosperity.

THE BENEVOLENT CORPORATION'S PROPER SITE FOR A SIEGE GUN FOUNDATION.

Speaking of benevolent corporations, such as the Bulletin professes to see hovering on the horizon somewhere, ready to swoop down and gather in the gas franchise, it would be interesting to have the Bulletin's own estimate of the various benevolent corporations which it has favored from time to time during the past half decade.

There was a tramway company which had a franchise to run ten years ago railways in Edmonton and which got no farther than selling city lots. There was a gas company eight years ago which had a franchise. There was another gas company six years ago which also had a franchise. There was another three years ago which wanted a franchise. There were power schemes and water schemes and inter-urban schemes. There was a railway which secured the closing of fourteen streets in the center of the city and there was another which got assets and easements and bonuses equivalent to a million dollars for fulfilling the obligations of its charter toward this city at a time when the proprietor of the Bulletin was the most powerful western minister and in a position to relieve the city entirely from being held up.

All these things the Bulletin has stood for and howled of its righteousness. From which any benevolent corporation which proposes to descend upon a sleeping city should be able to judge that the first place to stealthily place a concrete foundation for its siege guns would be in the editorial department of the Bulletin office.

THE PROPER PLACE FOR SOCIAL VALUES.

In the dispatches of yesterday there is a story of a homesteader at Moose Jaw who, by renting a room in the land office, managed to get ahead of the other would-be filers and to secure a quarter section which is stated to be worth five thousand dollars.

While no one will begrudge any settler a five thousand dollar start, the incident sets one thinking as to the folly of the system of land settlement which has been followed in the west since it was first opened up. The five thousand valuation could not have been arrived at in any other way than that a quarter section in a well-settled district was allowed to lapse and to again come into the hands of the crown, to be again thrown open for settlement. The value, manifestly, was given it by the settlement which had taken place around the quarter. Consequently, when the astute settler who rented the room filed on the quarter he was presented with five thousand which neighboring settlers who had preceded him had created by their simple presence in the community.

In the language of the single taxer, it was a social value. The place for social values is in the pocket of society. The five thousand should have been conserved to the community by capitalizing the value of the farm, leasing it, making the lease pay interest on that much capital and using the capital for the construction of roads, or some other public works of a general community benefit.

MAKING GASOLINE FROM NATURAL GAS IS NEW INDUSTRY

Under the heading "Gasoline from Natural Gas," a recent bulletin of the University of Alberta says:

Natural gas may be divided into two main classes, viz: Dry gas, which is composed largely of methane and flows in large quantities from non-oil basins or "dry" sands and gas containing liquidifiable vapors and known in oil fields as "wet" gas. This latter gas is the basis of the natural gasoline industry, an industry supplying a great deal of the gasoline of commerce.

Natural gas is a mixture of paraffin hydrocarbons methane, ethane, butane, propane, with olefins, carbon dioxide, oxygen, nitrogen, and hydrogen and where the gas is wet the higher hydrocarbons, i.e., propane, butane, etc., must be present in considerable amount.

The extraction of natural gas gasoline from natural gas as an industry is a new one, and dates from 1898. This process is simply one of compression and refrigeration, the compression being done in two stages and up to 360 pounds per square inch.

All natural gases are not suitable for the production of this gasoline. Methane or marsh gas called "dry natural" would require a pressure of 700 to 800 lbs. per square inch and would produce liquidized gas and not gasoline. This pressure is not commercially possible in the industry. This dry gas does not contain liquidifiable vapors convertible to gasoline.

Natural gas flowing from strata containing oil yields volatile liquids carried in suspension as condensable vapors. Depending on its richness in such vapors the gas will yield from one-half to nine gallons per 1,000 cubic feet of line used up about 10 to 15 per cent. of the original gas but does not decrease its heating value so the exhaust gas from the process may be used as a fuel. The physical characteristics which lend most readily to a right estimation of the gasoline value of a gas are its gravity, odor, flame color, condensation of gasoline from flowing lines in cold weather, etc. Any oil driller will recognize gas that "lays down on the derrick floor" and drive his men from the rig. The strong pungent odor of gasoline is unmistakable in gases rich in heavy constituents. In general, in regard to flame, the whiter the flame the richer the gas is in gasoline compounds. The gasoline available from working natural gas is very high grade, even running to 100 Beaumés. The higher grades are very active organic solvents and when mixed with refinery run have the power of forming homogeneous mixtures.

In regard to gas from the Alberta field, that from the Bow Island field is absolutely dry, being composed mostly of methane, while that from the Duvernay field is very rich in gasoline vapors. The gas from the recently discovered Viking field is also very rich in gasoline vapors and is being marketed as to its commercial possibilities.

Conrad Hunt, stationed at St. Etienne, France, reported not long ago that casain, the principal aluminum matter of milk, is now obtained by electrolysis.

ALMOST FAINTED THE STREET

In Daily Fear Of Death—Until "Fruit-a-lives" Brought Relief.

CHATHAM, N. Y., April 3rd, 1913.

"Some two years ago, I was a great sufferer from indigestion. One day my eye caught a billboard of 'Fruit-a-lives' and I said to myself, 'Fruit-a-lives will build me up like this, it is good enough for me.' I bought some and after taking these wonderful tablets for only two weeks, I found myself wonderfully improved. In a short time longer I was cured myself. My case was no light one, either. Gas would often form in my stomach and I was in daily fear that it would get around my heart and kill me. 'Fruit-a-lives' is the only remedy for indigestion."

ECONOMIC EPIGRAMS

This is the kind of world struggle where the last ounce of real fighting strength is going to tell. Every ounce of goods made in Canada that you buy is as telling as a bullet on the flanks of the enemy. It adds to our resources and depletes theirs.

When you meet the man with the tin pal at six in the evening, can you look him in the eye when you know you are helping to drive him out of a job by refusing to buy the things he and his fellow-workers are making?

The Canadian soldier, given equipment and training is as good as any soldier in Europe. Don't you think the Canadian mechanic that lives in your own town is as good a workman as the man who helps to support some other flag? Why not buy what he makes?

It isn't necessary to feel benevolent over buying things made in Canada. You get better value for your money in most cases and the fact is that if you don't spend your money that way the "chaps" who earn the $200,000,000 of annual Canadian wages will stop sending their money your way and then what? The British war effort is placing orders for goods in Canada. Why not line up with Kitchener and do a little Canadian-made buying yourself?

HOW MANY MEN IN ARMY CORPST THIS TELLS YOU

The following analysis, from authoritative sources, will help the reader to follow the movements of "corps," "divisions," "battalions" and "regiments" in this European war.

All continental armies are organized on the basis of the "corps" system. The telling of the organization of a corps, tells first how many infantry units are contained therein, and also statistics on cavalry and artillery.

All continental armies likewise are organized on the basis of "divisions." Each division is made up of several regiments, and a system of reserves.

The battalions of the infantry unit throughout continental Europe. The strength of a battalion varies, but is usually about 1,000 men.

Eight battalions equal one brigade. Two brigades equal one division. Two divisions equal one corps. The strength of a French corps is about 25,000 men, of all arms. Each corps has thirty battalions of four guns each, besides six reinforcing batteries a total of 144 field guns to the corps. Each corps contains besides two regiments of cavalry, one of chasseurs, and the usual engineering etc.

Germany. Three battalions equal one regiment. Two regiments equal one brigade. Two brigades equal one division. Two divisions equal one corps. The strength of a German army corps is about 14,000 men, of all arms. Each corps has ten battalions of four guns each, besides six reinforcing batteries a total of 144 field guns to the corps. Each corps contains besides two regiments of cavalry, one of chasseurs, and the usual engineering etc.

Russia. Four battalions equal one regiment. Two regiments equal one brigade. Two brigades equal one division. Two divisions equal one corps. The strength of a Russian corps is about 30,000 men, of all arms. Each corps has ten battalions of four guns each, besides six reinforcing batteries a total of 144 field guns to the corps. Each corps contains besides two regiments of cavalry, one of chasseurs, and the usual engineering etc.

THE GUN CARRIERS. (Norman Hogwood in Colliers)

When I was a small boy I possessed a 36 calibre six-shooter. This weapon made a strong impression on my imagination. I had day-dreams of doing heroic feats I might perform with it. One day my Newfoundland dog developed a skin disease. He was very itchy and his friend, the gardener said he ought to be shot. I had no reason to suppose the gardener knew anything about it. I was afraid, however, that if I delayed action, the dog might be killed otherwise. I lost the opportunity to try my revolver. I went upstairs, got my revolver, found the dog asleep and shot him in the head. The bullet glanced, and I shall never forget the look of reproach he gave me as he howled and slunk away. The dog was cured and then I had to finish the job. Scurously has a month passed in all the years since that I have not remembered this deed with horror. It was not that I was cruel. It was that my mind was affected by the pistol.

The better wood engravings are made almost exclusively of boxwood, and the large blocks are made of small pieces glued together.

AUSTRIAN PUBLIC IN IGNORANCE OF APPALLING LOSSES

Official Report of Ministry Shows 900,000 Casualties Since War Started.

London, Nov. 17.—The Morning Post publishes the text of a letter received by the London correspondent of a Hungarian paper from a friend in Hungary in which the writer comments bitterly on the way in which the Austrian public are kept in ignorance of the appalling losses among the Austrian troops. The writer who himself copied the figures from a report shown him by an official in the Austrian ministry says the Austrian losses in the campaign against Serbia up to November 1, reached a total of 145,725 officers and men, being almost one-third of the whole army originally sent to that region. In Galicia they reached a total of 152,750 and in east Hungary 1772. Thus Austria lost during the first three months of war a little over 300,000 officers and men, which is something like 25 per cent. of the whole army engaged.

The writer says one reason why, in his opinion, the government refuses from the publication of statistics for the present is that the most popular Hungarian regiment, the Magyar Hussars, and the first, seventh and sixteenth cavalry were almost completely annihilated in France and Belgium. Never a word was published officially as to their being sent to reinforce the British in the west, but the rumors about it, but not even letters reached the people of the hussars in Hungary. It is said these hussars kept back in order that casualties should not arise. I should not wonder if that had created not merely uneasiness but rebellion, for the people here feel that as long as Hungary is seriously threatened and being invaded even by Serbia as was the case, we cannot afford to have even our Austrian regiments in Belgium for Germany's sake.

FEARS EXPRESSED FOR SAFETY ARMED BRITISH LINER CARRYING MEAT

London, Nov. 17.—Grave fears are expressed for the safety of the British liner La Corrientia, which has not been heard of since she left Buenos Ayres for Liverpool on Oct. 1. The ship is three weeks overdue. She carried a cargo of meat worth $1,000,000. The liner was armed for defence and one rumor suggests that she has been in action with the German liner Kronprinz Wilhelm and that both vessels were sunk.

BOWLING SCORES FOR MATCH AT CALGARY SHOW GAMES EXCITING

Even Break on Five Men Event While Mitchell and Patrick of Calgary Captured Doubles—Simonton Bowled For Edmonton.

The scores of the bowling game in Calgary, although a little slow in appearing are now to hand and show what kind of work the boys did with the miterettes. The quietest broke even and in the doubles Patrick and Mitchell of Calgary, were the victors, dominantly to the great work of Jim Mitchell, who averaged over 200 throughout. Edmonton was materially aided by Frank Simonton who went to Calgary from Medicine Hat for the game. Frank rolled the highest individual score for the three games in the five men event.

MACK IS RIGHT IN BREAKING UP HIS BALL CLUB, SAYS FULLERTON

The Old Stars Are Too Prosperous and of No More Use On Philadelphia Team

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)

Comde Mack either is proving himself the wisest man in baseball or he is making the greatest blunder any man ever made. He is ripping his team which for four years has been declared one of the four greatest of all time, to pieces, and next year the Athletics will present a strange and broken front. If Mack, in the next two years, develops another team, he will be the least we ever have known. If not, the argument still will be open.

I believe Mack is making the wisest and best course open to the manager of a team. The conditions are unusual.

First, Philadelphia is a cheap ball town. Even when the team is drawing well the crowds do not grow as big as smaller crowds do in other cities. They have been trained in that way.

Second, the Athletics never have been a magnetic team. Their personality has not been known. Few of them had personal following.

Thirdly, Philadelphia grew weary of watching them; lost interest because they won so steadily. Last year was a world's championship team winning another league pennant, the team did not draw at home.

Fourthly, the players are growing old in point of service, and are prosperous. They wanted higher salaries in the face of a losing year. As a business man, half owner of the team, Mack could not see the way to pay more; as a baseball manager he realized that the team is past its best and going back in some departments.

There will, of course, be a loud and long howl from the public over the passing from the Athletics of Bender, Plank, Coombs, Gitting, and perhaps, Harry, Baker and even Collins.

But in any other business any business man would see that the best thing to do is to clean house entirely and rebuild the team.

To me it seems that Mack is wiser even than we have thought. He has seen some of his players go back steadily; has seen other grow weak; less of discipline and of playing because of continued prosperity.

The question now is can Comde Mack create from the remnants of his old team a new pennant competitor.

He can if anyone can. Mack is, in my judgment, the greatest judge of ball players we ever have known. He is a remarkable student of players. He watched the colleges. It is said that today there are a dozen players in college who practically belong to Mack.

In many cases Mack does these things out of pure friendship for the players or for the minor league managers.

How many future Collins' and Babers' and Planks he has on demand he alone knows. But it is safe to say he knows where he can get material for a strong team. It is currently reported that half a dozen more of the Athletics, tempted by offers from the Cubs, tried to "hold up" Mack for larger salaries.

Had they won the world's championship he probably would have been compelled to yield or to compromise, but losing put them in a position. Mack now has a strong ally to present in case he is criticized for letting go his stars.

Oscar Will Return.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—The Oscar, the fifth son of Emperor William, who has recuperated from a recent attack of heart trouble, is returning to the general staff today for duty in the army.

RASMUSSON WILL WRESTLE WALTER ANDERSON HERE

Member of Police Force Will Rake on Man From Nebraska.

Policeman Rasmussen, a member of the Olympic rugby team and who has a well-known athletic reputation is also a wrestler of repute and has been matched to wrestle Walter Anderson of Omaha on November 20.

Rasmussen is practically in as good shape now as it is possible for him to be and he has to do but little work to get into tip-top condition for the bout. He has been working out in Jerry McCarthy's gymnasium and expects to be able to step onto the mat in fine condition.

Anderson is about a 200 pounder and is an experienced man, having worked out with many of the big men in the profession.

SURROUNDED BY GERMANS FIRES INTO AMMUNITION BOX; EXPLOSION KILLS 20

Montreal, Nov. 12.—A letter to the Star from Private John Turnbull of the Gordon Highlanders, who is in a hospital in England tells of the way Edward Pringle, formerly a milk wagon driver here, met death in the battle of the Yser. Pringle, when surrounded by a party of Germans, deliberately fired into a box of ammunition that had been dropped from an artillery carriage and he and 24 Germans were killed.

GERMANS PREMATURE; DECIDED NEW NAMES FOR PORTS ON COAST

Paris, Nov. 17.—The German postal authorities have issued an elaborate table of Germanized names of Belgian cities and of "annexed territory" in northern France. "Among them we learn that Coblenz is henceforth to be known as Kalen, Dunkirk as Durkchen, Lille as Rysseel and Boulogne as Boumme. Further east, Brestanne becomes Biance; Nancy, Naisie; and Epinal and Ceeel become Splenelen Wiesel.

Welmar Runs Ashore.

London, Nov. 17.—Telegraphing from Christiana, the correspondent of Reuters Telegram company says that the British steamer Welmar, on her way from Archanger, Russia, to Leth, Scotland, ran ashore on Iery Island, on the coast of Norway.

It is estimated that the German army is using more than 10,000 motor trucks while the Allies are using about 14,000.

BARROW SAYS NOTHING BEEN ACCOMPLISHED FOR BASEBALL PEACE

New York, Nov. 17.—President Barrow of the International League returned yesterday from the minor league meeting in Omaha.

When asked about the proposed admission of the Brooklyn, Buffalo, Baltimore and Pittsburgh Federals to his circuit, Mr. Barrow said nothing had been accomplished, and that just now he did not believe there would be a consolidation of interests. He stated that Gilmore and the Federals had made impossible demands.

RACING CIRCUIT WILL BE INTACT SEASON OF 1915

Devereux Again President and Harmony Reigns at Meeting of Stewards.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 17.—The grand circuit will not be broken up. Work accomplished by stewards of the line in all day session here yesterday makes it appear certain the big light horse racing circuit will be intact in 1915.

This special session of stewards was called by H. K. Devereux, for the express purpose of ironing out many of the wrinkles that gave evidence of disrupting the circuit. Mr. Devereux tried to resign as president of the circuit and the stewards not only refused to accept his resignation, but said they would vote for his re-election at the annual meeting, which will take place in Detroit January 12.

Applications were received from a few tracks for membership in the circuit and only one withdrawal was made, that being Port Erie. Applications were received from Montreal, Poughkeepsie and Empire City.

GERMAN SAYS BRITISH ENTRENCHMENTS AROUND YPRES RESEMBLE FORTS

Amsterdam, Nov. 17.—The editor of the Rued Deutsche Zeitung, who is fighting with the German army in Belgium has written back to the paper in Germany:

"The entrenchments of the British troops around Ypres resemble fortresses and are more difficult to take by either artillery or infantry than any fortress of concrete or steel. The trenches which afford ready lines of communication between those in which the first and second lines are posted and to the rear, are most admirable. Their movement of troops entirely concealed to different parts of the front, which caused considerable surprise to the Germans."

BICYCLE RIDERS AHEAD PREVIOUS RECORD IN RACE

Prizes Offered for Sprint—French Team Drops Out of Contest.

New York, Nov. 17.—Seventeen teams of the world's fastest cyclists whirled over the ten lap course at Madison Square Garden yesterday in the swiftest six-day bike race ever staged there. At eight o'clock the riders had gone 185 miles and 9 laps since the start at midnight and were six laps in front of the previous record set by Walthour and Cameron in 1912.

One of the eighteen that sped away at the sound of the starter's pistol dropped out of the race at dawn. This was the French team of Emil Causse and then, Parent, the latter only where he recovered from a wound in the leg received in the battle of Chantilly. His team trails far behind the pack and 5:35 o'clock, ten miles behind, it was declared out of the race.

Prizes of cash (total prizes) were offered unexpectedly during the contest to riders who should win at given mileage.

This resulted in bursts of speed that broke the record at 3 o'clock this morning and hung up new figures at each hour thereafter. The innovation, borrowed from the French, was introduced here for the first time today.

BIG SMOKE AND SAM MEVEY ARE SIGNED FOR BOUT

Story Emanates From Tom Flanagan—To Receive $30,000 for Scrap.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Tom Flanagan gave out the following story yesterday:

"Sam McVey, the California negro, has been matched to fight Jack Johnson, in Havana, Cuba, 20 rounds in February. Billy Gibson is at the back of the bout and Johnson is to receive $100,000 for his end of the fight with McVey taking $20,000 and 20 per cent. of all receipts over $100,000. Johnson is looking in to receive 50 per cent. in proceeds of the 'movie'."

SUCCESS OF STALLINGS BOOST FOR CAUSE OF FEDERAL LEAGUE

Since Boston Manager Took Bunch of Raw Material and Made Champions Out of Them Follows Feds Have the Same Chance.

The remarkable feat of George Stallings in taking a score of untalented youngsters and three veterans and whipping the non-descript outfit into a world's championship team in two years weakens one of organized baseball arguments against the Federal league.

Statisticians in the two older organizations often have claimed that it is even impossible to develop players fast enough for two leagues, let alone three. How, then, could Stallings afford to get rid of more than 20 tried and experienced men and fill their places with odds and ends of young material from the minor league "garage" centers?

In rebuttal to the claims of organized baseball that the crop of talent isn't big enough the Feds might well say:

"If Stallings can take a carload of raw material that is absolutely unsuited to baseball's civilized requirements and develop 20 or more first-class men himself, what are the other managers doing?"

Approps of a suit for $100,000 as a charge of conspiracy brought by Jas. E. Gaffney, the president of the Boston Nationals, against James A. Gilmore for the seduction of Pitcher Jack Quinn from the Braves, the Federal president considers himself the aggrieved party, and is thinking even of suing Gaffney for part of the world's series spoils. "If anybody in this world should feel grateful to me it is Gaffney," says Gilmore. "Do you know that he had traded Rudolph and Gurdy to Rochester for Quinn?" The deal, of course, was canceled when Quinn went to the Baltimore Federals. And to think that I am expected to pay $100,000 for such a courtesy!"

Montreal, Nov. 17.—Three three million suit alleged damages brought by the Canadian Pacific against the original owners of the Storstad whale collision with the Empress of Ireland resulted in the loss of that vessel and her passengers will be heard here some time in February.

Three Russians, M. Kheukik, T. Greenforth and P. Durman, became embroiled in a struggle with Constable Ricketts of the C.N.R. at the depot on Monday evening, the men refusing to obey his request when he asked them to move on. He attempted to arrest them and was forcibly assaulted, one of them hitting him on the head. With the aid of Constable Stevens the men were finally overpowered. In the police court on Tuesday morning each of them was given 30 days in jail.

J. Letovsky, the well-known court interpreter, was forcibly assaulted by a Russian on Sunday, and as the result of the encounter is decorated with a black eye. The police are yet endeavoring to locate his assailant, who is believed to be some one who has figured in some police court action in which Letovsky's services were required. Dick Adams was arrested on Monday evening for drunkenness and shouting on the street. When brought before the magistrate he asked for leniency and was accompanied by a $10 fine. The three alleged safe crackers and burglars, McPherson, Heaton and Miller, appeared, but at the request of their counsel were remanded until Saturday.

STREET RAILWAY MEN ASK FOR AN INVESTIGATION

Been Over-bought in the Past and Statistics Do Not Agree.

Declaring that they are not critics to any greater extent than to suggest that a general inquiry into the affairs of the street railway should be held, the street railway employees draw attention to the fact that in a story published in the Capital on November 10, giving the resolutions drawn up at a meeting of the street railway men, there was incorporated a private letter sent to the Capital for publication from an entirely different source, thereby making it appear that they were the authors and endorers of the sentiments expressed by the private letter.

The street railway men's organization is at present drawing up a set of resolutions suggesting the line of inquiry which they believe should be made and these are to be presented to the council in the early future.

Among other things the street railway men claim that there has been an over-supply of material purchased, and that in some very important respects the statistics as presented do not agree with those as published in the dominion railway reports.

EDMONTON ENJOYS VERY GOOD HEALTH

Medical Officer's Monthly Report Shows Causes for City's Congratulations

TYPHOID CAUSES VERY FEW
Almost Half of Infectious Diseases Are Chickenpox, Very Trifling Malady.

Dr. T. H. Whitelaw, city medical health officer, makes the following report for the month ending October 31, 1914:

"There were admitted during the month at the isolation hospital 15 patients, classified as follows:
Scarlet fever, 7; diphtheria, 5; tuberculosis, 2; measles, 1; erysipelas, 1; chickenpox, 1, and tonsillitis, 1.

"The difficulty of dealing satisfactorily and adequately with cases of chickenpox under existing conditions must again be referred to. The case admitted was an adult who had no means of being properly isolated at home. He was kept in the suspect ward and apparently every reasonable precaution was taken to avoid cross infection. Nevertheless, two children, recovering from diphtheria, contracted the infection from him by some means of contact which I am unable to describe. The infection of chickenpox, while of a very trifling nature, is very easily and readily communicated. So easily, however as regards danger to health or life. It is only the possibility of its being mistaken for smallpox, which justifies the quarantine regulations imposing strict quarantine for a disease to which a physician is seldom called.

"Several vaccinations of school children attending the public schools were effected, about 40 attending the Separate school in North Edmonton. The results were eminently satisfactory, almost all being successful."

AUTO-THIEF GETS ONE YEAR IN JAIL

William Crawford Convicted on Four Charges Draws Three Months for each

Convicted on four charges of theft and of having stolen goods in his possession, William Crawford on Tuesday morning was sentenced by Magistrate Macle to one year in jail with hard labor. On each of the four charges preferred against him he drew three months, the terms of imprisonment to run consecutively.

Crawford is the man who made a specialty of collecting fur coats and rugs, taking them from motor cars left unattended alongside the curb. It is known that he stole at least two coats and five blankets, all of which he disposed of in second-hand stores, from which they were recovered by the police. Some of the articles have not yet been identified by their owners.

Smart work on the part of Detective McIvor was largely responsible for the conviction of Crawford. It was during a search showing that Crawford was the guilty person mainly by proving his hand strength—was the same as that of the person who sold the coats to the second-hand stores.
